Abstract of the Disclosure

A method is provided for watermarking a document using line margin shifting. The method shifts the left margin of lines of text either right or left to encode a watermark in a textual document. To embed the watermark, certain lines of the text are selected to carry watermark information. These lines are shifted either right or left to indicate a 1 or 0.